The Light

"... put on the armor of light." Rom. 13:12

Bits From Bob.....

Have you read the gospel?

It is told that when Tolstoy was an army officer, he saw during a march that one of his fellow officers was beating a man who was marching out of step and out of line. Tolstoy said to the other officer, "Have you not read the gospel?" to which the other officer replied, "Have you not read the military regulations?"

Despite the fact that violence leads to a spiral with destructive force, this story illustrates the way in which church people today often ignore the gospel and read the Bible as a set of military regulations.

What makes people human beings is their ability to relate to other people and to communicate with words. Violence is always a denial of the power of communication, both of human words and of divine words. Violence, whether physical, emotional, or spiritual, is a mistake. Every teaching that justifies maltreatment of others is also a mistake. When violence is victorious, a way of understanding and living is imposed which denies the image of God within human beings.

The gospel proposes to break the cycle of violence and to reestablish communication. To learn to listen to another, to understand the motivations and expectations of others, is essential. To replace force with words and the gospel opens dialogue and makes possible an agreement that leads God's people to peace. How do you read the Bible? Do you see the gospel (good news) or do you see regulations?

Shepherd's Corner

This summer, we have seen a number of opportunities for the congregation to help with targeted needs. Most recently, the congregation responded in a positive way to financial requests to help with the Mexico mission trip by Courtney and Kevin Wright and the need for financial assistance for Dorothy Lalli following Sharron's passing.

The shepherds are pleased to report that we were able to address both of these needs in meaningful ways and thank the congregation for their response. If you would like more information about the specifics of how we were able to respond, please feel free to contact us and we will be happy to provide details.

A number of our young people are attending church camps this summer. Some of these young people do not have the funds to pay to go to camp. If you are interested in helping send one of them to camp, please let us know. Thank you for your response to these targeted needs as we seek to do His will in this community and throughout the world.
